

About Wes Avants

ABOUT WES AVANTS

Wes Avants is Senior Leadership Advisor and Partner with Corpus Optima. In this capacity he is responsible for the development, design, and application of Servant Leadership principles to the organization. His primary interests and background are in the areas of organizational culture, servant leadership, and performance coaching.

He brings 30 years of effective leading, serving, and learning to Corpus Optima clients.

Wes brings an atypically broad range of experiences and education to his work with organizations. He has a rich background of helping individuals through the process of personal transformation—which parallels his deep experience actually facilitating organizational growth and transformation. He draws from the best practices of organizational theory and counseling psychology, human learning, leadership, spirituality, emotional intelligence, and physical health to help organizations unleash the unlimited potential of their people.

Respected as an authority on people and workplace dynamics, Wes brings warmth, insight and creativity to his client relationships guaranteeing a highly satisfying experience. As a consultant, author, speaker, facilitator and coach he has positively impacted people in boardrooms and in the oil patch, in colleges and in warehouses, in non-profits, government, and professional organizations all across the USA and overseas. His emphasis on values in the workplace goes beyond easy answers and quick fixes to help bring about positive change to all levels within an organization.

Highly entertaining and moving as a motivational speaker, Wes regularly addresses corporate audiences across a variety of topics including servant leadership, lessons from history, healthy spirituality, personal transformation, values and sustainability.

In addition to his work as an organizational consultant and performance coach, Wes has been a sales trainer for a national real estate franchise, a college instructor in Psychology, a wilderness facilitator for leadership teams, lecturer for Russian universities, and founder of a non-profit organization addressing the psycho/social and spiritual needs of individuals recovering from addictions.

His extensive and diverse formal education includes Columbia Seminary, Central Oklahoma University, Pepperdine University, and Texas A&M University.

Wes is also certified in multiple personality assessment instruments.

